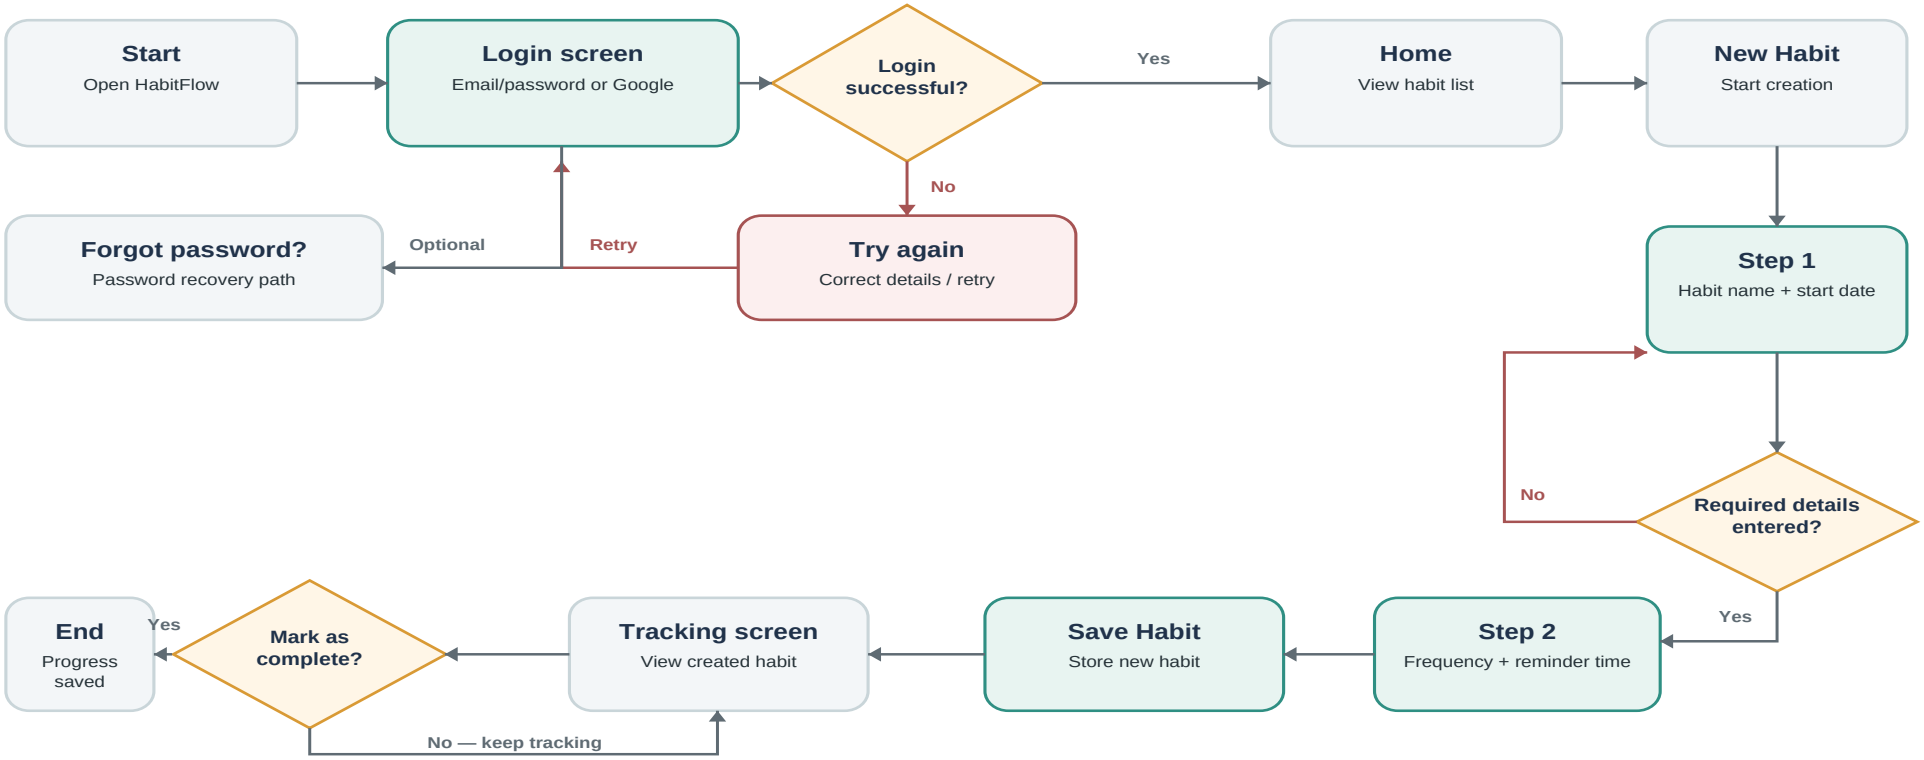
HABITFLOW — USER FLOW DIAGRAM

Main user journey from authentication to habit creation and daily tracking



Flow notes: The Login screen is the only authentication screen included in this milestone; a separate Sign Up screen is outside the current scope. The New Habit process has two steps: (1) habit name and start date, and (2) repetition frequency and reminder time. The tracking screen represents the planned destination after a habit is saved. The completion decision reflects the project's planned daily habit-recording feature.

Decision paths: Incorrect login details return the user to Login; incomplete Step 1 information returns the user to the first habit form; the user can either mark the habit complete or continue tracking it without completing it at that moment.
